

Benefits when Non-Profit Community Health Centers Partner with Chiropractic Providers

Additional Non-Profit Community Health Center Information

Community Health Centers (CHCs) are non-profit organizations funded with federal grant money to provide primary healthcare and related services to underserved populations under Section 330 of the Public Health Services Act.

CHCs must provide primary care and may offer additional specialty services to meet their patient's needs. CHCs must also provide case management, specialty referrals, counseling, follow-up care, and enabling support whether or not patients can pay.
